Monosyllabary.

THAT IS,

The best art, that can be us'd to teach the Learners, of our English Tongue.

How exactly, and judciously, to read all words of one Syllable, that may be made of Letters.

For which end, the greatest part of the Monosyllabls in our English Tongue, are drawn into a legibl sens; beginning with the easiest, and ending with the hardest.

Whereunto are added certaine Prayers, and Graces, at the end, being of Monasyllables only.

Made and composed for the good of the Commwealth, by Jo: BROOKESBANKE Presbyter and Schoolmaster in Vine Court in High-Holborn, and are there to be sold.

Gentlewomen,

THE ſtrongeſt incitation, which (next unto the publick good,) prævailed with me, in the compoſure of mine Engliſh Abcedary, was the good of you two, heightned with a much obliged gratitude unto your worthy Father, and the noble Lady your Mother, in that they were pleaſed to intertain me, when the whole world, (as far as I was at that time discoverable thereunto) had thrown me off, which hath ever ty'd up my resolution, to beg his patronage, of the whole labour; which through the harsh dealing, of this Step-mother age, hath been now a long time, confined unto mine owne private manuscript, the first part whereof, viz. My Syllabary, the present condition, wherein I now stand, hath inforced me to send abroad, which violently draweth this part after it; by reason the aym of that worke, is the right reading, and writing of our mother tongue, wherein it goes no further then spelling, which makes this requisite unto the next undertaking therein, which is reading, wherein order requires skill, in Monosyllabls; before learners be troubled with Polysillabls; for which end, this also, hath beene composed now many yeares, and is now

To all them that pleas to teach, or learn, this Book.

WHo ere you be, that think to make uſe of this piece, to that end, which is aim'd at therein, you muſt have skill in thoſe rules, I have ſet out before my Syl-la-ba-ry, which you may finde there, as far as you ſhall need for this, with this hint: that here, your childe may learn; the moſt of thoſe ex-cep-ti-ons which are to be known, to finde out the right number, of what Syl-lables are in a word, whereof let this be a taſte.

1. That when there is Dipthong in a word, there is a vowell more then Syl-lables as in feed, prais, &c.

2. That when (i) (u) or (y) are made Conſonants, then in ſome ſort it may be ſaid, that that there is a vowell more then Syllabls; as in jet, vers, pond, &c.

3. When there is a vowell in a word not sounded, as (o) in people, (u) in guilt, &c.

4. When a word hath (e) in the end as in hate, state, plite, &c.

5. When a word endeth in (es) as bones, stones, &c.

For a right use of all which, I have put the most of the words of Rule which are in this Tract in the last Chapter, wherein you may finde the reason of all.

As for the rest, and the fur-ther il-lu-stra-ti-on of these and their ex-cep-ti-ons I re-serve them, to mine Englisſh Abcedary.

All that I wiſh here, is that theſe may be well known, and have a good and right use made of them, then haſt thou that end whereat I aim which is thy profit, and thus I leav off, from being at this time the cauſe of more troubl, to thee, and am

Thine in the Lord Ieſus

CHAP. I.

O I am no ſo, wo is to me, if he be ſo.
Ah! wee ſee an ox dy by an ax.
Lo it is my ew, Low, be ye in aw as we.
I am all ill, up go on I ſee a Py.
Fy, ye ſee in me, no ly to be.
o ſo: ty an od eg at in eye.

CHAP.

CHAP. II.

Try, I am to ſpy a true ſlo in the tree.
Oh; a ſo will uſe one of us two as you ſee,
Oh, he or ſhe is as true to us as the ſky.
Why is the ox ſo ſhy as to ty a fly aſſe to two?
Who is up? an ax thy ſo ſo ill.
Ah! Pan age in ſea! moe on one toe.

CHAP. III.

A New all in ale, oh it is an od age!
All are in aw; or in ire at it
An ell of ice in the ſky is at an ace of py
I ake in one eye, you two (ſo ſly) uſe us ſo ill.
Wo is me! I ſee an ax in an eg, and am in aw.
Ly by an ew, or an ax; in eye of a ſo.
Fy go up, he is to dy; or ly in a py.

CHAP. IV.

THe ice ebd, or ebs, or is able to eb, an ace.
I cry do: ad ache to the od crue in the urn.
Adl or idle, it is ods to try by an edge.
If he fly, flee and fry dry egs in old ale.
Lo I go to ſee the elſe by an eg two ells fro the elm.
I ſpy an ape, an ell fro an apl; in the end of an ark.
Ask, I am ill, and ye are apt to pry it in my art

I irke to urge the, tu uſe the one arm,
She is ſhy to ly in a ſty, and ſpy a ſlow as ink in the sky.
I ask, is it true, ye ſay you ſaw mee at an aſh tree.

CHAP. V.

HE is bad, and ill, who bade me go to bed.
She bode, to bid the apl hide in the bud.
Beg the big buffe bag, and let it ly on the bog.
Take up the ball in the bell, on the tack, and fill it full.
He that did ly on his bum, and ban, was his bane.
Cut my bile and let the bill fell and kill the bul.
Ban an old bare bone, it will be his bane.
He was bore on the bare edge of the bar.
Bat him well, and he will bate an ace, or bite but one bit.
Back it is baſe, to bake a bot in a box, for a boat.
Oh he is idle, and hit old adl egs at us.
Ah! it is ods if he uſe but his dry adz.
The Duke did dig her dug, and dub the dog for a duck.
Dame, let the dil, in the dale fill up the dam for a file.
Let Don, and the Dane; dine in the dim den out of the Din.
Don, has done at dice: dip a date in the doſe.
He is free to fly fro a fo if he can.
He will flee, or fry oft in his fat, by the ſame fate.
A fig for fate, it will fade like fog, ſome or fume.
Her fan, is ſet on the fane in the fen; put a fine fin in it.
The fare of fate, had fed my far fo, fat in the face.
He is fit to go to fet a fox, or to fix egs.
Oh God! his game is gon, as ſure as a gun.
He gan to gape in the gap, and to get to the gate.
Gip, I will gaze on him, for he got all for his gut.

An Engliſh Monoſyllabary.

The hag, did hug a huge hog hid in an ox hide,
Let the Gull ly on an hill, or on a bile
Ty the hen in a hat, or hale her in a hem.
Hit him ye hate, though he be in his hot hat in his hut

He gets to ſetl, and ſets ſets as he ſits at our buts
He hits guts, at our hats in our cold huts.
He lets nits and lots fall on the mats, for five nuts
He takes rats, out of nets, in pits, and puts in pots
His cats take rats in the ruts, as he ſets jets.

CHAP. VIII.

SHe is but a blab, and hath a big bleb on her lip
He is much too blame, if he bled by his blade.
That brom in the brim will make it blot.
The bride is bred to brag, and chide for a bribe.
The brute brat hath caſt a brier in to the bran
He that brake the braſs brace is broke.
She can chide ſore, for ſhe chid for chaffe.
If you be thus chil, you may chime till you be hot
Chip his chin, or chop it off; for it is like a chine
Let this chit check the chare-wife, if ſhe medl.
chap up this chick, leſt you choak for a chape
He choſe me, and I chuſe the, to chaſe them with a club.
He is to caſt a clod at the clog in the cliffe
Clip his wing, and he will clap to climbe up.
The flock had a clap, when he hid the clock cloſe, in his cloak
Take that crab by the crag, and cram him up in the crib.
It is a crime to crop the Crane in the crate, for a crum.
That drab did not dread, to crack the croſs.
Let that trull drag out the dreg with the droſs
Let him drill out a dram of this drug, for his drum
This one drone, will drayne the whole hive
Let the droſſe drop, dwell you where the drake may dive.
He fled from the flame, with a flag on his ſtaffe
This is flat, he will fleere much at a flip flap

He will ſtiff, that he may hide his ſlute in Milk.
Take that frum frõe, from this ſame frame, (glad.
The frock is fret out, but the fruit of the glebe land makes him
When the gnat is glut with glut, ſhe may glide on the glaſs.
The grub, will grope out the grape on the vine.
Give the greek or the grig a groat to grime the grate.
It is groſſe, to gripe for that braſſe in the graſſe.
Graze you the Cow, while we ring a knel.
He doth plod to cut, that knot I knit, with his knife.
The man ſels his plate, for a plum or a plume.
A ſmall plot, cannot pluck pride, out of this place.
All this prime he will prole for a prune,
An aſh prick, is too big a prize, for his prate of the prore
He he ſets a high prize on his bal'd proze.
If he ſtab, hit him on the skull with thy ſtaffe.
Scar the fondl Scot tho he ſcape, he may miſſe his ſcope.
He hath skill, to prop up the skin of the hare ſcut.
The ſhab, hath ſhed a ſcore of pins in the ſhade.
If he may be well ſhod, he ſhall skip with you.
You ſhag; it is a ſhame to ſhog the ſhell thus.
A chip of an ill ſhape, hath hurt his chin in the ſhop.
Who will ſhun ſun-ſhine, where it ſhone in the ſhip?
He hath a whole ſhire, cloſe to the ſhore, for his ſhare.
When he was ſhot with a ſlug, he ſhut the door.
One ſlam will ſhake his purſe quite.
He ſlit his ſlip, and ſet it a-ſlope in the ſlime.
The ſlut, did waſh one ſlop in the ſluce, when ſhe ſmote him.
Smug doth ſmell and ſmile, at a ſmall ſhee.
I will ſmite him, for he did ſmut me in the ſmoak
Snub him, for he takes it in ſnuffe, that I ſmite him.
He kill'd a ſnake in a ſnare, with ſnot on his ſpade.
This you may ſpell, he was ſure ſped if he did ſhore.

I ſaw and ſpide her to ſpil ſpume, a ſpan from where ſhe ſpun.
Spare this ſpan, it may be as a ſpur to the ſpire.
She ſpake in ſpite, and ſpat at a ſpot on the ſpit.
In the mean ſpace, in-ſtead of ſpice, ſhe ſpake for ſpike.
He is too ſtiffe, to ſtab for each ſtub, or ſtud in the ſtaffe.
This ſtuffe is no more fit, then a ſtag far a ſtage.
Let the ſtole horſe ſtale ſtill in the ſtall, by the ſtack of corn.
I will not ſtir one ſtep, to move a ſtone, to ſtop ſuch a ſtem.
That ſtar (ſtare on it) will not let one ſtake walt in the ſtack.
Why will he ſwill, to ſwell, and ſwage ſuch great ſtore?
The ſwan did out-ſwim the ſwine a large ſpace.
That tribe tride the trade there, and trod the truſſ.
The Bee fly's, and runs trim tram, but begets thin thime.
Trace with a tripe, to trip him in a trap.
It is no trite trope, to trot for truce in a trice.
Twit the twin, if he twine the twig twice, for one one truſſe.
Whine, and whiffe; for he will take a whole Whale.
Whom, and where ſhall I whip, to whet my knife?
What will it not whiffe a whit? then wrap it up.
When I cry whip, take the white writ, and write it out.
Quip him, for he doth ever uſe to quiffe, and quaffe.
He is quick, but I ſaw him quake, that the quire is quite quit.
Cleave this brave clove, as he clave that.
Shave that ſlave, and drive the knave to his grave,
Crave that drove, which he drave to the ſtove.

CHAP. IX.

THe bard did baul on the boy, to boyl the bief.
The bow'd bowl had been a good boon.
He did bait his bail, with beer, & beer in the bow'r:
It is no boot, to bauk the boy's with bay's.

Dawb the whole dew'd hive, for all the bees
What a deed is this, to deem all bows his doom?
Daign to come down by the dawn of the next morn
Dance the door, and daſh him in the deep
The dawes uow a-dayes, doubſe the dewee in dews
The fool will fail, to feed the foul with food
He did fain the faun gave him a foul fall
Give your ſeer the fair hors, with four white feet
Let that foot feel a knock, if he make mows at the mous
Let him hide two good geeſe in his gown for his feeſe
To bid Heil to a goos in a hood, is a mad gaud
His heel is hewn with a hors, but he doth howl of the gowt
Keep the hauk in the hous, but lay the hook in hair
Peep leſt this lowt wrap his loyn in lawn
He will ſue the town for a loop on the Leet day
She is not a maid for our turn, that laies veal in wine lees.
It is mown paſt the mayr in the more,
New moon is paſt, hois up ſail to the main
It is not meet, to maim a meek boy
The boys be noy'd to the mawes with a nail.
It is great news to need your neece at noon
It is pain to hide the pawn, and the peel, till you be paid
One Peer hath power to look unto a pair of poor
She will pout, and pauſe, before ſhe will pay a piece
He is raid, and will poiſe the reed, a rood from the roof
It is bad for the rheum, and in vain to reel to the vail
It will rais the rout from the root, to roul that ſtone
The Rook on the high tow'r, toy'd with his tail
She in the coif, doth toyl her teem for toys
When he was cool, ſhe caſt his keys & his coin in to a cawl
He ſayd he did caus the cows to be put in to fat gras
He ſaw'd wood, and ſow'd woad in a good ſoil

He ſaies he may ſeem, to ſeek his own ſoul
That ſawce was ſeen to be ſoon ſow'r
The Seer ſees the hurt, that ſowes are over-joy'd with ſawce
He view'd your ewes, and vow'd to hang the Jewes
Its void and vain to work your jawes with veal
He views and vows, to weed what is ſown
She did weep and wail a whole week, with a loud voice
In the jayl he joy's to ſawce the jowl, with ſoot
I wait to ſee him fiel his hous, for a woof of wool
Sinner! as I ween, a wain is in our way.

CHAP. X.

IF the winde blow, then the blew lamb will blay
That wilde aſſe doth blay without blee
She with the bitl brow, did brew rich good ale.
It will cloy that mad crew to chew all clay
That crow in the drag net, did claw his cray
Draw you the line as you drew it to winde it on a clew
He flew to flay the calfs, but his knive had a flaw
You are free to flee from a fray, tho the glew flow ore
The Gray will gnaw the Glow-worm with-out glee
You know this knee doth grow as that grew
I pray let your plow ſtay, if you play for a prey
She will ſhew me, as I did ſhew you, how to ſtay an ox
Stay not, they had need to come on ſlow that flew the man
They bear ſway at the ſtew, and ſpew at the ſpaw
Tho he is in haſt, he I trow ſee's the ice thaw
Make you a tray of that tree, to keep whey in Troy
She ayds me, there-fore give her one gold ouch
What ayld thee, to ſee it oyl'd with theſe oyls?

I see the old man loves salt, and sels it well.
He own'd those owls, that he may prick all these owls.
His aunt aims to give him an ounce of Pearl.
It was aird with more airs then one at that time.
He puts an owsl, in those that are ours.
For all his outs, he owns more then he oweth.

CHAP. XI.

SHe bubl'd, and babl'd like a slut when she was dabl'd.
The rabl'd rout, babls on bubls, as when they walk on
They babl'd of a then nobl'd, but now cobl'd Lord. (bubls,
Now he wabls, caus he was hackl'd, with kibls, and cobls.
When he was buckl'd, he nickl'd him for a pickl'd Muscl.
He with the badg's dodg's, for egs cackl'd in the sedg's.
It sedg's not in their rid's where pedg's lodg's in sedg's.
He was sore fail'd, yet wadl'd and hidl'd before the Judg's.
He was justl'd on the sedg's of the wedg's as he badl'd.
Thou bidst me dons thou didst, when thou wert at madst.
Then thou sedst him, but now thou bedst him, and gadst out.
He in the lists hath bezl'd out his dasled eye, and sees not our
He is right in the might to use jests at the sight of justs. (hests,
That wight bight light, and hath might to fight.
Let the welch belch in a halch, if they filch.
Tho he be humbl, and tumbl he is nimbl to mumbl.
If he rambl he must rumbl, and rumbl on the tombes.
Jumbl the combes, if he wampl at a dimpl.
To know him by a pimpl, in the templ, is most simpl.
They are in dumps, caus he damps the lamps with lumps.
They dandl a bundl of rumps in their camps.
Let the wimpl be a pumpl for his pumps.
Kindl the candl, and handl the rundl tho you bungl.

He

He bends his hands, to the ponds in the lands.
He rends his bonds, and lends bands of hemp.
He mends as he tends, for he findes wands and ſends.
He will tangl or fangl, to ſee her locks dangl.
Give her bangs, while ſhe is fingl, for ſhe will jangl.
Mingl lops whilſt he jumps, till the bels gingl or tingl.
The dog dings with his fangs, and dungs on the bungs.
He longs for lungs, and birds wings, in his pangs.
Fame rings that he hangs not, but ſings ſongs with Kings.
This moneth he ſings and hunts; in a litl mantl.
Be gentl, and lay thoſe mints in his tents, on thoſe dints.
He hints on Lents, and pants for rents as he cants.
He vents on the Ale-bench, he will tinkl for all wants.
Thus he wonts; to take a finch by the hanch for his panch.
Pinch that bunch, or let it wranckl and be ſore.
He girds birds (to the hurdl) with his girdl.
The wench on the marbl ſtone, will warbl for a tench.
Let him keep his Lords herds, for curds and fair words.
That curl'd head was hurl'd out, for five yards of purpl.
He kept his birth day at the mirtl, with a turtl in a kirtl.
It is little mirth, to drive the Scot quite out of the North.
It will be bad barbd warts to wipe their hurts with darts.
Whip thoſe warts, out of thoſe parts with rods worſt then
In March he will lurch, and nerll in his carts. (birch.
Parch him on the pearch, by the light of the torch in the caſtl.
Haſt'n to faſt'n them, for they have diſht and miſht in't.
He ruſht and puſht, but now he is waſht, and huſht.
I wiſht he had been daſht, and waſht when he gaſpt.
He liſpt, and ſaid it is halpt, where we maſht to day.
He ralpt a drug, for a botch on the bitch.
Watch to catch the dutch witch in the ditch.
Fetch a patch of match, to put to the latch.

Give

Give yond hen a fetch, that ſhe may hatch eggs.

CHAP. XII.

SHe her ſelf blab'd, and blam's the blades for blabs
Tho thou art blunt, thou wilt blend the blinde blains
He that is moſt bleſt, made the beſt bluſh at blots
They on the bridge brabl for a tore britch
He brag'd, he would bridle them brides, as thou brags
Bring the bruſh from the brand in the brink
His briſk breaſt brims are bruſt, with that brunt
The chub'd brats have breath to cool their broth
The litl childe is child on the britl ice
He chils, and caſts chink, like chubs of chalk
It was a chance that the bief was chin'd vvhen you chimed
You may ſee by their chins they do not chant but champ
His chops be chopt and chipt, vvith the chips that he chopt
Charge him to charm the churl in a churn
You cry chirk cherk and the birds cry chirp cherp
He chats caus, he chaſte, a chaſt maid in to a cheſt
Hold thoſe chubs in thy clutch, for the chits will chatl
He did climb the clift, and they caſt clogs and clods
VVhen they club'd him, he clapt to the clark and clipt him
The crab'd old man claps the crabs with his crutch
He did crackl on the crags, but clipt the childe in the cradle
The cripl croſt the cramp, with his horn ring
Cruſh but the cropt cruſt, it will craſh, and fall in craps
Drabs will drudge, and drabl for theſe crops
The drugs drig'd mixt with the dregs of his own drift
Drink not, he drunk but drams of ſack, and was drunk
He drags all the drums, to be dreſt with drops
The dwarf dwelt, where it dropt on the flags

That

That flitch of fleſh dwels in a hous flag'd with flints
While the flaſh is all fluſh of flax, he flits and ſings flats
The man with that freckl; doth fridge and frisk in a froſt
He is fram'd to frisl, frigl, and frump at frogs
In the front of France my frank friend wore a frindge
He is freſh and frisk, to frisl, fripl, and frapl
He frets theſe grubs, till they froth and gnaſh
I grutch not, nor grudge to plant in the grand grange
The gregs grip't with age, do grumbl, and grunt
He did grant to graſp the griſtl knobs
He plods to know he crept out the pledge
Plump man plunge the plank, when he plots to plant plums
He did plaſh the Prince, caus he was prank in pluſh
They prob'd with a prong; when thou didſt ſhufl
This pritl pratl is preſt, in too fair print
His ſcalp is ſcal'd with ſcalls, and his skin ſcab'd with ſcabs
You may ſee the ſcums ſculls, ſculk in the ſconce
If it be ſcan'd as he ſcans, this vers is too ſhort
The ſhab'd Scots, skipt in a skarf ſcarce to the skirt
The ſhabs doe ſcant ſhufl, in yond ſhackl for ſuch a ſhock
Thou ſhalt ſhift that hauk from thoſe skins on the ſhaft
He is to be ſhent, for he ſhogs the ſhells in thoſe ſhips
It was a ſharp ſherd, that ſhapt the ſhirt
He is ſham'd that hid the ſledge, and the ſling in the ſlutch
Thou slept, while he slipt the slips into his ſlops
Slaſh the ſmith for his ſloth, till his slits ſmart
Thou ſmels a ſmelt, and I ſmil'd till I was ſnub'd
He ſnuft and ſnaft, to ſnatch a ſnaſl
He ſnaps ſpades, as you ſnapt a twig; tho he ſnort
He is ſpilt, or ſped by ſpels; to ſpend to a ſpunge
He did ſpurt with a ſpink, and was ſpand with ſpans
He doth ſpurn at a ſpark caus the ſpurge is ſpent

She ſpins her webs with ſport, on the ſpars of the ſpitl.
He hid his ſpurs in that ſtubl in the ſtable, where he ſpits.
He ſtuft the ſtub'd ſtump with ſtubs, when he had the ſtitch.
He ſtabs the ſtags, ere he will ſtifle his hors.
Stickl on; and he will not ſtand to ſtamp out the ſtems.
She hath ſtill'd both herb and ſtalk mixt with chalk.
The Bee ſtung with his ſting, and made him ſtink.
When he ſtir'd he ſtunk, and ſtopt the ſtaple with a flint.
He is ſo ſtarke with the ſtorm, he ſtops the ſtern that it ſtirs not.
He ſtarts from the ſteps, to catch a Stork with a ſwitch.
The Maid did ſtarve, when he ſtrab'd her milk.
Swadl not the child, for it is ſwel'd with the hurt of a ſword.
The ſwads do ſwarve, from what is ſworne in a ſwarm.
He ſwels as he ſwils, and ſwags as he ſweats.
Thence I think the ſwarf, is ſwept with tripl ſwaps.
He doth ſwill ſwatl in ale, and cry thump on the thatch.
To tye a thong to his thumb, is a thing I will thank you for.
The ſwaſh trig'd from ſwath, to trifle for a ſtraſhe in treacl.
He trugs in a trance, to bid the trump ſound trebl.
All on this ſide Trent, he trim'd and trapt in that trade.
He trips the wretch in traps, and doth twitch the twins.
Twelve tripes twiſt and twin'd, will make him twiſt.
He doth twill twatl, and makes the twigs twink.
He twits him caus the back of the trunk cry'd twang.
He was whipt from the wharf, when he ſtole a whitl.
He was wroth, and whipt him on the wreſt of his right hand.
The queſt doth quibl, and quirk; which whets their wits.
The wrens be wrapt in a wrinckl of the quilt.
He is quel'd for the quart, and doth quill in the pool.
He is quipt, and doth quip us with quils for a Quince.
Three herds of ſwine, made them quite quits.

CHAP. XIII.

SCrap did ſcrub ſcrug the ſcribe, with a ſhrub in the crag.
His voice was ſhrill, when he did ſtrat him with that potſtrig not to ſy ſhrine, twixt the ſhrog & the ſhrape. (ſherd.
Smile will ſtrip him, therefore ſtrap him till he ſtrut.
Smike a ſtroak at this ſtrake, made by that ſtripe. (ſprat.
The ſprite did ſpread the tail and ſtrove to ſplit the ſhip for a
The ſquib did ſquat down at the ſquare ſprig in the ſhrad.
That throb in the throat, did breed him much thrall.
Think him if he ſhrike, who can thrive by a thrum.
You ought to make a cawdl, for your right feebl ſtunts.
Daub'd Leech, daubs the beech for the bauds.
Touch; leſt the blinde beetl touch you for your deeds.
Ceheeds gawds, and feeds maids, in the town of Leeds.
He will needs caſt ſeeds of weeds into the reeds.
Thou mayſt laugh, to ſee this boyld for that tough cough.
The good old man bowl'd, when he was bayl'd.
All fail'd; for he was both fool'd and foyl'd, in the field.
When he was moyl'd, he howl'd reel'd, and rail'd.
He was ſore toyl'd, when he rol'd the mould, and nail'd it up.
They vail'd as they fail'd, and foil'd the barg. (wolf.
He that boyles the haulm, would have kill'd the long tail'd
He bowles at fouls, and baits him for all his foyls.
His he moils he ſees the fools nails, ſet down baits.
He in the Monks cowls rouſs, and reels to the rails.
He toyls in the keels ſails, with fox tails.
He in the jayls, foils their ſouls, with moyls.
He mauls his jouls, and wails the loſs of his vails.
The vault hath the mault in the vault for his coult.
He dooms the looms, caus of all his rewms and maims.

He deem'd, and doom'd it a fault, to be maim'd with a bolt
It ſeems, that he found both his teems bound
He fain'd he gain'd a hound, that ſeems pain'd
The fiend pawnd it for a pound, when it rain'd
When the wound is ſound, they may be join'd round
VVhen it dawns, I may ſee the fawns bounce on the downs
He fains gains, when he hides lawns in gowns
Theſe coins for pawns, pains his loins and his rains
He yawns and weeps, but ſoms wains, and hears his vains
It is a foul taint to paint a point, for a faint taunt
It will daunt him, if he haunt Court Leets
VVhen his houſe was loopt, he peept at the cours gourd
Mourn for the moiſt foiſt, powr'd out of his mouth
In ſooth, he ſaith to hie teeth there is no faith in him
He baits the beetl, to ſeeth a bootl for his tooth
She is in doubt, he meets with gouts in the ſouth
She houts and pouts for his long boats in the pools (roots
It meets in the ſource, as he waits at coits, and routs out the

WHen he blow'd the bloom, I ſaw him bleed bloud
The Aſſe brayds caus his blain was blown up
The high brow'd wench brew'd ale to make men braul
She is brief to burn broom, to broil the hens brood
He is brown, and doth breed brawn to feed his brain
The chief flags did brous on the brook brink
He ſat in hi chair, and chew'd the chain from his cheek
He layd claim to a clout which a cloud wet
One claus in the Creed, may make them creep to Creet
He claw'd his crowd, as long as he could craul
He draw'd the crook, from the crows in much dread

That

That crowd muſt drain their purs, ere they droop
If he be drawn out, the flood will not drown him
Wet flow'd in the birds neſt, when the dam was flown
He did fleer, and flout at the flow'r on the floor
He took a flock by fraud, and din'd in the Fleet
When it doth freez, or when it flows, frail men are freed
The green groom doth gloom, and groul at us
He is glew'd to the ſtool, ſince he plaid at gleek
A ſwine gnaw'd the grain, with his groin, as it grow'd
He will kneel on his knees to greet a Greek
The known plain is plow'd, and grows with corn
He is grown proud that they praiſs him as he plows
He pray'd me to ſcour a skain of hemp for a fals ſcout
The proof ſhow'd how the ſteed ſtood to his ſteel
In a ſhow'r he doth hoot, and ſhoot in a ſheet to his ſheep
When he ſhook his ſhoes, the ſhawm was ſhown
He ſhew'd the ſlain, and thou ſhows the troops
The ſnail is ſnow'd ore in ſleet and thou doth ſleep in ſmeak
It ſnows on his ſpout, and doth make him ſneez
When he took the ſpoil, he ſpew'd with ſpeed
He doth ſpawl, and ſpout on the ſpawn, with a ſpoon
If that ſpous had ſtai'd in the ſtews ſhe had been ſpew'd
The ſwain is ſo ſwag'd, he dare not ſtoop
The thief did train him to that ſweet ſtain
He is ſtout, that he kills ſtags by the trees, on the ſteep hill
He did ſteer their barge in Tweed for a trout or two
He did wheel round for a trout to give to the Queen
The ſhrow will ſtray to skrew the ſhrew mous
Strew ſtraw, as you ſee ſpray ſoon ſtrow it
Burn the dice, he threw two, and you throw three.

CHAP. XV.

HE fightes, to ſee ſightes (by lightes) in the nightes
He dandls the wightes, and rightes their bundles
They are pain'd with the ſimpls, that vle wimpls in tempts
She kindls cardls, and handls pimpls in her dimpls
Thou fadl ſt, and thou dadl'ſt, and didl'ſt as thou pedl ſt
Thou madſt thine hors, as thou budſt, and ſadl'ſt him
She bungl'd, and hangl d, while her hair dangl'd
When ſhe was tangl'd, ſhe fangl'd, till ſhe was mangl'd
They jangl d, and rangl d, till they were all mingl'd
Now at length he fondls, bungls, and bangls in the rundls
She fangls, caus her pot dangls, in the hangls
He wrangls, and rangls, the man in his purs hangls
He mingls the fardls, ty d in girdls with the hurdls
He was mangl'd, and ranckl d, with the cingls
Tho he jingls, and jangls, he tingls in the mirtls.
The plague of a young tongue, is a height of naught

CHAP. XVI.

HE was dribl d, and drabl'd, caus he grubl d where they (brabl'd
Thou bribls and brabls, but he quibl d as ſhe ſwabl d
He ſtabls and grubls, as thou dribls and drabls
Thou ſquibls and ſquabls, but he quibls on trebls
The ſpeckl'd man was ſhackl d til he crackl'd, & was freckl'd
He grudg's that he trudg's, for ſtaul'd ſledg's
Thou bledſt, and fledſt, as they ſhufl d and ſcufl'd
Thou whir'd, and ſnufl d, whilſt thou ſpeedſt him
Thou gladſt him, if thou plodſt on the cliffs
His crafts, ſhifts and drifts, be to have the croſts

Thou

Thou ſhedſt his blood with thy ſhafts in flight
Thou ſnufſ, as thou grafts in flits, where thou ſhodſt him
Where thou dwellſt, he in thy plight, thirſts at cheſts
The brighte Knight, was put to a flighte, with a frighte
Thou ſmelſt thy friends, and doth trembl as thou ſpel'ſt
Thou twiſt and ſpilſt, till thou twelſt with cramps
Scambl out, leſt thou ſtumbl on a brambl
I ſaw him crumbl crumbl, theſe crumbs with his thumbs
He did crambl to thumbl crumbs with his thimbl
He doth ſtrampl ſtrampl, and climbs to catch plumbs
He doth trampl on his ſtumps, and ſtumps as he trumps
He ſtamps the trumps, with thumps in the Iramus
At a glims thou blendſt brands, & holdſt a ſpindl as thou ſtilſt
He doth brangl, as he ſtands to wrangl, and ſlings prongs
When he ſpends his wife clings to him, & doth grunt like a (ſwine
He clungs, grunts, and brings a ſtrungl, in ſuch brunts
He blunts the prints, and ſcants the plants with his ſtines

Morning

Morning,

Morning Prayer.

GOod God, I praiſ thy great Name, that thou haſt kept me ſafe, this night paſt; ſo I beg of thee that thy care may keep me, from this time in this life, till I ſhall have a ſhare of that bliſs which ſhall not have an end; and this for thy Son CHRIST his ſake Amen.

Or thus.

GReat God, thou that by thine own right art the chief Lord, and a juſt Judge of the whole world. I once a pure, but ſince through the riſe and filth of mine own ſelf, a moſt vile work of thine hands, do here with mine whole heart thank thee, that of thy good will to me, thou haſt ſent the grace of thy Son Chriſt, to be in, and to take up my ſoul for His Templ; and that thou haſt kept me ſafe, all the time and daies

daies of my life, and this night past to this hour, In like wise for his sake I pray thee keep me the rest of my life, till I shall come to that end, which shall be without end. Amen.

Grace before meat.

LORD we thank thee for these thy good gifts, and we pray thee for thy Sons sake to make them to be, an help to us, in the best things. Amen.

Or thus.

LORD God, we yeeld unto thee all thanks, with our whole hearts, and mindes, for this good food, that thou of thy meer love, hast set at this time on this table for us. Bless, we pray thee, them to our use, and us to thy self, and that for thy Son CHRIST his sake. Amen.

Grace

GOod Lord, feed, we pray thee, our ſouls with the grace of thy word, as at this time thou haſt fed our frail fleſh with this good food; and that for his ſake, who is our breath, and life. Amen.

Or thus.

THou that art the God of the whole earth, and all things els, we give thee thanks with all our hearts, with all our mindes, and with all our ſouls, for this good food, with which thou haſt fed us, and let us we pray thee, through its ſtrength, each of us walk in thoſe good waies of thy word (to the joy and health of our ſouls) which ſhall have none end, and all this for thy Son, who is the life, and ſtay of his Church, his ſake. Amen.

Evening Prayer.

O God, I thank thee, for all that great care thou haſt had on me from the wombe, till this night, and hour; ſo I pray thee for thy truth, love, and promiſe in thy Son his ſake, go ſtill with me, all that time that is to come, that I may live with thee world without end. Amen.

Or

Or thus.

O Thou that art a God, as of Mighte, so of Love, I, who am here to shew my self in thy sighte, am a vile, poor, and base wretch; through my great Mis-deeds: I have, O Lord, to the shame of my face, and the hurt of thy great name, and truth; done ally, and us'd sin as a cloak; rid and quit me, I pray thee, of this filth; which if thy grace of health, do not withstand, may take both my flesh, soul, and sprite out of thy great care. Where-fore, as thou hast kept me safe to this time, shield me with the hand of thy grace (I pray thee) this night, and hence-forth, that I may so spend my daies here as I may raign with thee, when time shall be no more, and that for his sake, who is the Prince of Peace, and hath bought our peace for us, at the dear price of his own bloud. Amen.
